

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A user may receive performance information for reproducing a performance, and then re-transmit the performance information to another location, either directly or upon request from the other location. The performance information may be modified by the user prior to re-transmission.

5

you took down from your perch in the quiet sun, and then you had to go back to the old place again.